MEDIAN UNDERGRADUATE TUITION & FEES UP BY 10.0 PERCENT OVER LAST YEAR'S

The median student tuition for a year's attendance at one of the nation's major public universities has jumped 10.0 percent for the current academic year, from $1,129 in 1983-84 to $1,242 in 1984-85. Last year's increase was 10.3 percent.

The median total charge for undergraduate tuition and fees, room and board for state residents attending state and land-grant universities during 1984-85 is $3,629, compared to $3,377 in 1983-84, an increase of 7.5 percent. Last year, total charges rose 7.1 percent.

The Office of Communications Services of the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges (NASULGC) received survey data from 135 of the 146 NASULGC member institutions in the 50 states, the District of Columbia, Guam, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Table 1 shows a two-year comparison of median undergraduate charges at state and land-grant universities for state residents and non-residents.

[2] Median charges at all institutions that offer room and board.

NON-RESIDENT TUITION RISES 13.9 PERCENT THIS YEAR

The median charge to non-resident undergraduates for tuition and fees rose from $2,880 in 1983-84 to $3,281 in 1984-85, an increase of 13.9 percent, compared to last year's 16.9 percent jump.

Median total charges for non-residents this year are $5,658 compared to $5,232 in 1983-84, with a jump of 8.1 percent.

This year the median room rate is $1,127, an increase of 9.8 percent over last year's median of $1,026 for the 86 comparable campuses which provided data on separate room charges. The median board rate rose 2.7 percent at 82 comparable campuses, from $1,118 in 1983-84 to $1,149 in 1984-85.

Combined room and board, including data for campuses which charge separately for these services and those which have one combined charge, rose 6.0 percent, from $2,206 in 1983-84 to $2,340 in 1984-85. One hundred and twenty comparable campuses provided information about room and board.

The reason most often given for increases in student charges was inflation. Seventy-three respondents checked this category. The next most frequently mentioned reason was the necessity to maintain program quality (72). Other reasons cited included inadequate appropriations from the state legislature (46), no other source of additional revenue available (29), faculty and staff salary increases (32), legislative mandate (24), and changes in student aid (9). Seventeen schools cited other reasons, such as mandate from state board of higher education, required by state board of governors, and to maintain fees proportional to state funds.

NEW ENGLAND AGAIN LEADS REGIONAL COMPARISONS

Member institutions in New England continue to have the highest tuition and fees, both for state residents and non-residents. The western schools reported the lowest tuition and fees for in-state students, as well as the lowest out-of-state tuition and fees. However, the percentage differential of non-resident charges over resident is highest in the West, with non-residents paying 299 percent more than residents.

For resident undergraduates, the median charge in New England is $1,752, followed by $1,498 in the middle Atlantic states, $1,355 in the Midwest, $1,065 in the Southeast, and $936 in the West, which had the highest number of respondents.

For non-resident students, New England also leads the regions, with a median charge of $4,959. The Midwest comes next with a median charge of $3,931, followed by the Middle Atlantic ($3,441), the Southeast ($2,813), and the West ($2,794). Table 2 gives a regional comparison of median charges for undergraduate tuition and fees for 1984-85.

VETERINARY MEDICINE AND DENTISTRY LEAD GRADUATE TUITION HIKES

Of all graduate and professional students at NASULGC member institutions, non-resident dentistry students sustained the greatest median tuition increase in 1984-85, with an 19 percent jump over last year. In-state dentistry students pay 15 percent more this year. Non-resident veterinary medicine students pay 18 percent more this year than last, while resident law students experienced a relatively mild tuition boost of 4.7 percent.

Other major increases in median tuition at comparable graduate and professional schools were reported for non-resident medicine students (16 percent), non-resident law students (13 percent), and in-state veterinary medicine students (13 percent).

Each of the five types of graduate and professional schools examined sustained a major increase in tuition for 1984-85, with law resident and medicine resident student figures being less than 10 percent.

Table 3 gives complete information on median charges at comparable reporting graduate and professional schools for 1984-85 and 1983-84, and the amount and percentage of change.

19 CAMPUSES HOLD THE LINE ON TUITION; ONE ON TOTAL CHARGES

Nineteen campuses did not raise resident undergraduate tuition and fees in 1984-85, the same number as in 1983-84. The following 19 campuses did not increase resident undergraduate tuition and fees this year.

University of Puerto Rico
Wayne State University
University of Guam
University of Texas Health Science Center, Dallas
Washington State University
Auburn University
University of Nevada
Clemson University
Michigan State University
Texas Tech University
University of Michigan, Ann Arbor
Oregon State University
Texas Southern University
University of Texas Medical Branch, Galveston
University of Maine
University of Texas Health Science Center, San Antonio
State University of New York, Albany
University of Houston
University of South Carolina

Sixteen campuses held steady in non-resident undergraduate tuition and fees in 1984-85. They are the following:

Wayne State University
University of Texas Health Science Center, Dallas
Auburn University
Clemson University
University of Guam
University of Puerto Rico
Texas Southern University
University of Alabama, Birmingham
University of Nevada
Texas Tech University
University of Texas, Arlington
University of Texas Medical Branch, Galveston
University of Texas Health Science Center, San Antonio
University of Houston
University of Maine
Oregon State University

All campuses but one (University of Texas Medical Branch) experienced increases in total charges (tuition, fees, room and board) for resident and non-resident undergraduates for 1984-85.

(In 1982-83 ten campuses held the line by not raising total charges compared to one campus in 1981-82, five campuses in 1980-81, two campuses in 1979-80, twenty-four in 1978-79, and thirty-two in 1977-78.)

One school, the University of California, Berkeley, decreased the total charges for resident and non-resident undergraduates for 1984-85.

RESIDENT TUITION TOPS $1,000 AT MORE THAN HALF OF CAMPUSES

Eighty-seven campuses had charges of $1,000 or more for resident undergraduate tuition and fees. Four campuses charged less than $400 in 1984-85.

Consistent with the last four years, the number of campuses charging in the $700-$999 range was less than half of the total number of respondents: 28 in 1984-85, 36 in 1983-84, 37 in 1982-83, 42 in 1981-82, and 80 in 1980-81.

One campus in 1984-85 is charging non-resident students less than $1,000. At the other end of the scale, the number of campuses charging non-resident undergraduates more than $2,600 was 91.

Table 4 gives the ranges and number of campuses in each range for undergraduate tuition and fees in 1984-85.

Ninety-four campuses charged resident undergraduates $3,000 or more in 1984-85 for tuition, fees, room and board, while in 1983-84 that figure was 77 campuses, in 1982-83 that figure was 70, in 1981-82, 52 campuses, compared with 27 campuses in 1980-81. In 1984-85, three campuses charged $1,999 or less for total charges, compared to two campuses in 1983-84, one in 1982-83, and two in 1981-82.

Total charges for non-resident undergraduates in 1984-85 reveal a similar pattern. Seventy-eight campuses charged non-residents $5,000 and above in 1984-85. At the lower end, two campuses charged less than $2,999 in 1984-85, compared to three in 1983-84 and none in 1982-83 and 1981-82. Two campuses charged less than $2,999 in 1980-81 and four did in 1979-80. Table 5 gives the ranges of total charges and the number of campuses in each range for 1984-85.

Tables 6, 7, 8 and 9 show the ranges of increases in tuition and fees and total charges for both resident and non-resident students. Median tuition and fees for resident undergraduates increased at 115 of 135 institutions, while non-resident tuition and fees increased at 118 of 135 designated institutions. For residents, 76 campuses, or approximately 64 percent, had increases of 0 to 99 dollars. For non-residents, 32 percent of the campuses increased tuition and fees by less than $100. Increases in total charges for most institutions ranged from $150-$299 for residents (58 campuses, or 48 percent, with increases falling in this range). For non-residents, the 1983-84 to 1984-85 increases were well distributed from the under $99 range to the $400-$499 range.

LONG-TERM RISE IN MEDIAN TUITION TOPS GAIN IN HIGHER EDUCATION PRICE INDEX

The National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges has surveyed its member institutions about tuition and fees since 1965. From 1965-66 to 1984-85, median charges for resident undergraduate tuition and fees have risen 299.35 percent, from $311 to $1,242. During the same twenty-year period, the Higher Education Price Index rose 263 percent and the Consumer Price Index rose 216.8 percent. (The Higher Education Price Index was developed by D. Kent Halstead, research economist at the National Institute of Education, and indexes the prices that colleges and universities pay for goods and services.)

Median charges for non-resident undergraduate tuition and fees rose from $734 in 1965 to $3,281 in 1984, an increase of $2,547 or 347 percent. In sum, the long-term median tuition for resident students at state and land-grant universities has risen 36.35 percent more than the Higher Education Price Index, and 82.85 percent more than the Consumer Price Index. For non-resident students, the increase has been 84 percent more than the Higher Education Price Index and 130.2 percent more than the Consumer Price Index. As has been stated in earlier reports, this reflects the fact that state and land-grant universities have had to look increasingly to tuition and fees for revenue, while income from other sources has been depleted by inflation and slow growth in state appropriations.

Table 10 shows median charges for undergraduate tuition and fees since 1965, and the dollar and percentage increases for each academic year. The number of respondents supplying data for Table 10 varies from year to year, and therefore the respondents are not a directly comparable group of campuses.

16-YEAR RISE IN TOTAL CHARGES IS SMALLER THAN RISE IN PRICE INDEXES

The National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges began to monitor total undergraduate charges (tuition, fees, room and board) in 1969. From 1969-70 to 1984-85, median total charges for resident undergraduates rose from $1,297 to $3,629, a jump of 179.79 percent. Median total charges for non-residents increased from $1,910 to $5,658, an increase of 196.23 percent. During the same time period, the Higher Education Price Index increased 185 percent and the Consumer Price Index rose 200.9 percent.

Table 11 shows median total undergraduate charges since 1969, and the dollar and percentage increases for each academic year. The number of respondents supplying data for Table 11 varies from year to year, and therefore the respondents are not a directly comparable group of campuses.
